Preface

In the beginning was the end, when I can choose peace, and rest while working. My communication has changed, and with it, my neurology.

Consider: communication is not what is said and done. It is the result of what is said and done. Therefore, if I want to heal and/or be successful in my creation, I must change the story I tell.

Meanwhile, I'll argue with myself: shall I go right or left? There is power behind making a choice, which is why deciding terrifies me! Power is so huge a subject matter that, from now on, TCO will capitalize its "P" to remind me that I'm dealing with a fiery entity that can burn. Thus, the question: is TCO "write" for me at this time?

To Reality, my Nemesis...

And to you, the yin to my yang and the yang to my yin.

It is only in the mysterious equations of Love that I can find any reason for doing what I do. As the voice of TCO, I am only here because of you.

YOU are the reason I am; you are all my reasons, and what gives me faith.

And for that, I shall be forever grateful!

TCO's Mission

The mission of The Code of Opposites is to heal our relationship to Power.

To do so, it reveals the force of a sacred language that guides us to the field in between, where to transcend our beliefs of right and wrong, and know in our blood that the divine has no religion and no elect. By becoming fluent in “God’s” language – in the paradox, feeling and sensing the all-pervading realities that beckon us now, we open to the Love that has no opposite, and experience Health in all levels of our communication.

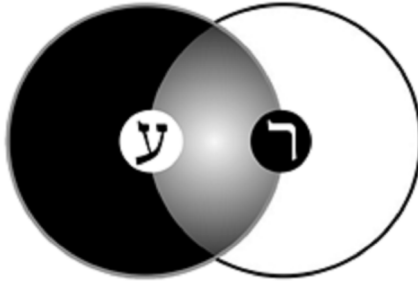

Empowering the Now is easier said than done! Sure, I have known “times” when I felt awe at the sight of a radiant sunset or at gazing into the eyes of a newborn, and lost track of my identity. Nonetheless, it is the nature of the linear continuum to bring everything to an end. Thus, the blissful moment passed, returning me to “normal” consciousness. And it makes me wonder... Is there a way to sustain the quality of presence I felt, when the inexorability of time was suspended, and only the Eternal Now existed? For that would be fluency in the paradox.

I am at the point where my conditioned existence, although punctuated by the fleeting joys of a new toy, has become wearisome. I am tired of the constant warring, a part of me wanting to be here, and the other, opposing it. This must be the principle of complementarity recognized by physicist Niels Bohr. Where will I place my attention: on the wave or the particle; on being among the haves or the have-nots?

For now, it appears that I can't grab onto both sides at once. I don't know how; it's too paradoxical for me. If I did, I would know that these two parts exist side-by-side for me to know Love. I'd surrender the fight and open to a third option (a third eye, perhaps?) by which to see the good of my suffering, and resist nothing. This is where TCO comes in. It invites me to wake up from the romantic dream and remember what I knew as a child: there is no one out there!

It does that by offering a novel interpretation of the Hebrew language of the Bible (yep!), so deep, global and ecological that it transcends any possible religious dogmatism and/or superstition. It also gives me codes by which to elucidate my own maps of meaning. At first, I am dumbfounded. Could there be some truth to the claim that the Bible may just hold the most crucial series of utterances ever expressed on Earth? Once exposed to the codes, I find myself moved to turn within, and surprisingly find the Power to transform. By triggering a full speed collision with the beauty of an interactive script, TCO gives me a way to respond and be present as I navigate the pandemic era, and beyond.

Code Conscience – RO / OR

Imagine a language so pure and so sacred that it can reconcile opposites in just two letters...

- Right: Hebrew letter Resh (ר) → R in Roman Script
- Left: Hebrew letter Ayin (א) → O in Roman Script

Here is how Hebrew inscribes the code “Conscience” in just 2 letters:

- RO: in one direction, I read Rah (רא) for “evil, bad, wicked.”
- OR: in the other direction, I read Ohr (רו) for “awake.”

The decoding: feelings are not good or bad. They’re just the communication of good or bad news. When I shoot the messenger, I’m missing precious information. Let’s say that I feel jealous (a big taboo). Jealousy simply alerts me that, right now, I think that I can’t have what I want. That is simply not true! I can attain any goal, provided I have wholesome Power. My use of Power is made wholesome when I make “THE decision,” and am deliberate in my intent to wake up. Surely, evolving consciousness is acquiring Power, and acquiring Power is evolving consciousness. As I forgive the “CAIN” in me, I begin to think “I CAN.”

Cain was so jealous of the recognition enjoyed by his brother Abel that he killed him. When I resist understanding the vanity of my evil side, I am Cain, the murderer of my potential. But when I become conscious of evil’s evolutionary purpose, I change for good. Little by little, I return to innocence as I don't take my errors so personally. It is just a matter of being willing to embrace the reality that I think "should" be different.

Note: I still find it shocking that the meanings of Cain's and Abel's names would have been obliterated. If I knew that Cain's calling is to be "possessed by jealousy," and Abel's, to be "vanity," I'd have an entirely different take on the mystery of incarnation and/or "the word made flesh." Moreover, as the first murderer and the first mortal who can't be killed, Cain has a lot to teach me about the cycle of death and rebirth to which life in the material world is bound.

About S/Hebrew

This proclamation is made to thank the Jewish people for their unflinching courage in the face of the pain they had to endure to ensure that the gift of the Holy Torah and of its Hebrew alphabet would remain uncompromised. It is also made to free Hebrew to fulfill its mandate – to trace a universal path to Peace.

Some languages, such as mathematics or music, are neutral and deemed to be comprehensive. No clan can make a claim as to their ownership. Optimally, any discipline serving a vast ecumenical endeavor belongs to no gender, no race, no nation, no tradition, no organization, but only to life itself.

While languages do evolve, Hebrew seems to be the only symbolic alphabet that never changed form. This everlastingness may suggest that there is a cosmic plan at the root of evolution that compels me to come out of nothingness. This plan was meant to show up at the perfect time. It was waiting for us, humans, to be sincere in our prayer to transition from greed into grace, and thus, heal our relationship to Power. To this end, this language renamed itself "S/Hebrew" [shee-broo], as it is when Hebrew goes global, ecological and unisex as the words and worlds of the sacred realm.

This Booklet's Contents:

- To You, My Reader – a good faith estimate of all the reasons of why to engage (or not).
- Simplifying Consciousness – a synthesis of what the work in consciousness entails, and what it will take to engage.
- In Conclusion – the basic elements positioning Golden XPR as a path to THE END,” introduced here by TCO.

Variations of this image appear throughout this booklet. Its geometry has the Latin name of Vesica Piscis for “Vessel of the Fish.” It is the Western expression of the Eastern yin yang that represents two fish – one black and one white, with the eye of each fish being the color of the other.

ONE

To You, My Reader...

THIS SECTION EXPLORES these four questions to help me decide if TCO is “write” for me:

1. Do I often feel that I am not enough?
2. Do I doubt being able to fulfill my potential?
3. Do I wish for practical solutions to recurring problems?
4. Would I like to stop the forced labor, and just be?

"Let the reader make a careful study of this work; and if his doubt be removed on even one point, let him praise his Maker and rest contented with the knowledge he has acquired. But if he derives from it no benefit whatever, he may consider the book as if it had never been written." Moses Maimonides. The Guide for the Perplexed

The information which you are about to discover may or may not be your cup of tea. Its nature is so controversial, and its writing, so different from traditional forms of writing, that it is likely to disturb your emotional body. Moreover, it dares reclaiming the vocabulary of the soul, using words as dicey as "God," "law," "sin," and "sex." And here is why this may be desirable... To break the seals keeping you from giving it all and vibrating with unconditional love, TCO must hone in on the part of you that resists the healing you most want and need. In that sense, the medium is the "massage," touching you where it hurts in order to dispel the trauma. As such, this book is more than a creative study. It is at once a revelation and a deduction. As a revelation, the awe it provokes may send you into the limbo of overwhelm, confusion, sleepiness, irritability, the desire to quit, and even the sense of being coerced. The same awe will also be enough of a surprise to give you another way to look at "it." As a deduction, it invites you to experience its hypothesis, by being at once, the scientist, the lab and the guinea pig.

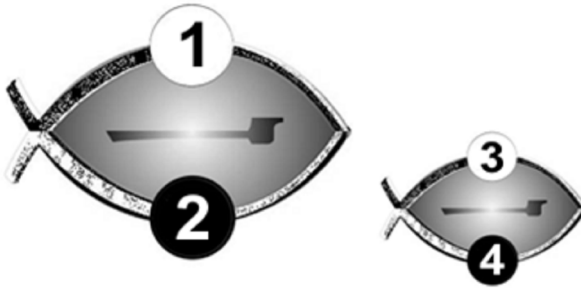

TCO's hypothesis itself speaks of awesomeness. It proposes that the Hebrew symbols are non-biological sentient animals. They work in polarity and go by pairs in order to convey a subjective experience such as surrender so that it can be objectively remembered.

You already have all the answers. We all do. However, the fact that there's nothing to learn does not deny that teaching may be possible and, at times, necessary. This is especially true when the signs trace a path by which to have a perfect recall of the impression of just being. Being is the ultimate way to live in the world. Of all the "God" Names, none is so well put as the "ineffable name" whose four Hebrew letters simultaneously mean "I Am," "I Was," "I Will Be." The absolute being is reality. It transcends time. It is the Self, “God;” ever-present, all-pervading. Knowing the Self, “God” is known. In fact, “God” may just be no other than the I Am. This idea also appears in the letters of “I AM is the AIM” – I rest while working.

Before deciding to engage, please consider these four questions:

1. Do you often feel that you are not enough or that you can’t get any real satisfaction?
2. Do you doubt being able to fulfill your potential and manifest your heart’s desire?
3. Do you wish for practical solutions to problems that seem to be on auto-play?
4. Would you like to stop the forced labor and just be?

i. When the soul fears to be “not enough,” I am called to satiate the hunger for Love. Because this work endeavors to offer the reality of a global solution, the voice of this writing takes the perspective of an “I” in order to give “you” the space to decide when you are ready to enter a “we” space and find that there is only One story of pain. Mi cuenta es tu cuenta; “my story is your story.” Just like you, I have known loneliness, sadness, shame and anger... Just like you, I bleed when pricked!

Years followed years, books followed books, before the door of TCO opened. Meanwhile, if eating is a fitting metaphor for the acquisition of wisdom (and by extension, of wholesome Power), I am now looking at a feast. The abundance of TCO’s courses and its nutrient-density can be overwhelming! And yet, even if this luxurious buffet could satiate the hunger for Love and thus restore the sense of enough, I still have to wait to be hungry enough to deliberately sit at the TCO table, eat, chew on and savor its delights. If not, my stomach may find the delicacies a bit hard to digest...

More than ever before, I am hungry for the sacred – for something greater than the little self. While having the sense of being lost, I need directions. Might I be like a child, misbehaving so as to be given a sense of discipline? I am not conscious to be calling for the law – the Law with a big “L,” and also not conscious that finding a sure path involves going deep. This is how I shall begin by asking me to overlook the foolishness it will take to dare entering such profound waters, and to simply recognize the sincere desire to love reality, that is, to know “God.” Indeed, I must now accept that, for me to heal, the ego has to be completely nullified. Transcending destiny (the personal) is the only way to stop being a victim of my biology. This is also no less than enlightenment.

So, yes, it takes great audacity to interfere with things of which I have no conscious knowledge, but also great zeal to discover a novel interpretation that could allow me to receive the “shoulds” as my recipe for happiness, given to ensure the well-being of body and soul. Henceforth, the unimaginable will occur... The reluctant prophet in me will stop making the law a coercive device to repress what I can’t accept, and instead take great pleasure in following it. And I will call that Love, and feel it as a huge big LOVE!

For now, it seems that, even if the elders have said that “the Law speaks in the language of men,” I have closed my ears to it. Yes, the voice of my intuition speaks in sounds, images or words. It gives me my orders; moment by moment. Yes, it can be disturbing to think of myself as a soldier, especially when my ego wants to be the general! And right there, am I not singing Lucifer’s song – an angel who fell from grace after he rebelled against the rule of God? Devilish? Indeed! Archetypal? You bet!

So, why can’t we obey (a big word) when the results are so dismal? Do we think that we are above the law? Is pride and/or a lack of humility how we would ignore that “for every action, there is an equal and opposite reaction,” and repeatedly cause consequences we would rather not have to experience?

Ah... What will it take for me to die to my sins? Indeed (and in misdeed), we appear to be in dire need of a code of opposites by which to cool down Fire-Power when it leads us to hell!

2. WHEN THE MIND IS PREY TO SELF-DOUBT, I AM CALLED TO JOIN REASON and faith – a very sexy proposition as it is playing my part in marrying science and religion. As a student of this material, I will have to confront four problems. These places where I lack coherence are the four “reasons” why I experience a crisis of “faith.” On that note, do I imagine that I’d instantly become a rationalist, thinking as clearly as a Descartes or a Spinoza, by merely disentangling myself from the Biblical matrix? Logically speaking, is that even possible when the collective unconscious is immersed in such matrix? While the Bible appears to be the most prejudiced book of all, I can’t deny its influence. So, what’s the truth? Do I trust myself to sustainably make sound judgments? Am I able to deliberately place my attention on plenty rather than lack? Faith, should I wonder, is a numbers game, as it is the amount of certainty in which I hold a belief. When I totally (100%) believe and/or when I have zero (0) doubt that I already received what I prayed for, it is factually mine. Reasonably, if my work with TCO were to lead me to embody such entirety, I would know that there is a universal code to hearing and seeing the soul of perennial truths. So, let’s look at the reasons I may hold for not engaging...

The first reason is difficulty. It fuels the first faith issue which is impostorship. TCO’s subject matter itself is undeniably difficult, subtle and profound. Indeed, “whence then comes wisdom? And where is the place of understanding?” Job 28:20. Diving deep into the waters of the unconscious is how to harvest pearls of such great beauty that I’d be forever transformed. But there’s the very real risk that I would drown.

Moreover, I believe my intelligence to be insufficient. My problem is to think that I am not enough – an impostor! Moreover, I have the deeply embedded sense that I don't have the right nor the talent to seek self-knowledge and find it. My engagement is sporadic as I doubt that I will ever transcend my self-imposed limitations. Ultimately, I fear that, sooner or later, I will be exposed as a fraud, and that my work will be disqualified as the product of an incompetent mind. Ouch!

The second reason is incoherence. It fuels the second faith issue which is disenchantment. Coherence is having my heart and my mind in perfect alignment. Therefore, ethical conduct is the foundation of intellectual progress. The measure in which my intentions are pure, calm and steadfast is the measure to where I have a sane mind resonating with intellectual perfection. My conceptions are correct, and my judgments, sound. "His secret is with the awakened one" Proverbs 3:32. I am willing for my heart to be shattered in order to know that the heart is "unhurt." I will then face the disenchantment, the sadness and even the anger that my take on the promise of happily ever after may never be fulfilled. I will detach from outcomes and understand that I have zero guarantee, even if I do all the hard work of inquiring on the beliefs that keep me from being empowered. At last, I will live without a why, having surrendered the desire that my efforts would be rewarded with the golden revelation of certainty, and my craving for security, fulfilled by absolute truths.

The third reason is exhaustion. It fuels the third faith issue of regression. While desiring to reach my goal, I may find that doing what it takes is too tiring and/or troublesome. Yes, I want to see what the heavens are, their numbers and their forms; what angelic beings abide there; how the creation of the whole world took place; what is the purpose and nature of the soul; how it enters the body, if there is life after death, etc., etc., etc., but, there's a "but!" I have no patience, and wish to have a dramatic paradigm shift in my evolution NOW. Moreover, I can't feel the kindness of regression, the goodness of failure, or the usefulness of a seesaw pattern of one step forward, two steps backwards. And although I do admit to an increased ability in widening my perspective and tolerating conflict, I find the meandering motion to be draining. This is especially true when in the midst of a regression, as I start believing that I will never reach the goal, and never wake up.

The fourth reason is no solvency. It fuels the fourth faith issue which is tribal suicide. I am disturbed in my intellectual and emotional pursuit by the necessity of putting food on the table, and looking after the material wants of the body. This is how I fear to commit to what I associate to tribal suicide. I am concerned that probing conventional assumptions and asking big questions as I endeavor to know who I am will cut me off from the society that defines and sustains me. I fear peer rejection and dread the hostility borne of ignorance. I imagine that, since my family does not wish to go on a similar journey of self-discovery, they'll judge I've grown too big for my britches. My work will only serve to do harm by making me a pariah who betrayed the tribe, losing friends and prospects in the process. And should that be the case, with whom would I engage in commerce? How then will I pay the bills?

Do I recognize myself in any of these "reasons" and/or "faith" crises?

3. WHEN THE BODY ASKS FOR A PRACTICAL SOLUTION, I AM CALLED TO make sense of the letters of the Law. TCO reveals how the letters of the Law are patterned as a metalanguage; a language beyond languages. Like music or mathematics, this language is deemed to be neutral and comprehensive. As such, it belongs to no clan, but to life itself. Its signs go beyond the physical senses to establish a connection to the voice of conscience. This is how “grokking” the letters of the Law allows me to increasingly receive the spirit of the Law, and thus, stop doing harm.

But how could it be that the entire wisdom teaching of the Bible would be distilled in the 22/27 hieroglyphs (or “sacred signs”) of a simple alphabet? So, let’s make it simple: when I am not at peace, there is something I do not understand. I’m in my head, and not in my body. This indicates that I’ve turned off sentience – the capacity to feel and sense. Sentience is how that which understands has an understanding of “God” and, by extension, of Nature’s laws. The “Law, Teaching, Way, Song of Love” are the meanings of the Hebrew word Torah – the original version of the Five Books of Moses. If I were to think of Torah as a strawberry, I could be told about its taste forever, and still have no knowledge of its particular sweetness. To know it, I must bite into it. For me to experience how opening the letters’ many secrets gives me the Power to change my ways, I must taste the Torah’s letters, and walk this ancient futuristic path. It leads me to the end of my communication issues, but also and foremost of my Power issues, as I stop rebelling against my own “good” (or my own “God”).

Here is a bite to chew on... The law is only a false construct when I use it to establish my Power over you. Rather than being premised on control, the Law is Love. It is here to liberate me from myself. However, I won't feel it as the gift of pure grace that it is unless I come to love you, my neighbor, as myself. Until then, I'll sound preachy while invoking the law. I'll speak in the wrong tone of voice, and appear as a sanctimonious authority, unable to sense that, in the space when I am shaking a finger at you, I am misusing Power. Would it help me to realize that the Hebrew word for "neighbor" is also the word for "evil?" These are, indeed, the letters of the Law, as spelled out in Leviticus 18:19. If I could love the "wicked" side of me, I would be the change I wish to see in you. I'd have no need to change you, teach you or save you. I would simply love you!

"When you adopt the viewpoint that there is nothing that exists that is not part of you, that there is no one who exists who is not part of you, that any judgment you make is self-judgment, that any criticism you level is self-criticism, you will wisely extend to yourself an unconditional love that will be the light of the world." Harry Palmer, Love Precious Humanity

Yes, but! How do I surrender my judgments and come to the treasured understanding that there's only One of us? Hear! Hear! According to Rabbi Akiba, the divine language of the Torah is distinguished from human speech by the fact that it has no word or sound that are superfluous. Henceforth, having the codes opens the Golden Mean or the moderate position between two extremes, one of excess and the other of deficiency. It thus puts an end to the question "why is there evil in the world?" By realizing that there is not one iota that is redundant, I begin to find meaning, come into balance and stop the senselessness. My 3rd eye opens for me to see the good in evil. And as I understand the why of my limiting beliefs, they spontaneously auto-destruct.

So, if I inhabit a field of intelligence that has qualities, what is the supreme quality, if not understanding, since understanding leads to peace? How? Understanding is the “wife” of wisdom and the “mother” of kindness, as it is how to know good and evil. It inspires the willingness to emulate what I find admirable in the world. As such, it stretches me to seeing “God” – or that which no greater can be imagined. By bringing me down to earth (and down to my knees), it repairs the broken compass of my instincts. I can now sense what I must prioritize, and relate to the excellence I am now called to pursue. Far from religiosity, understanding is the white space “in-between” the words, half into the dream and half into articulated knowledge – a knowledge that is biblical, embodied and shamelessly sexual. Yes, the codes that activate sense and sensibility kindly waits for me to make the decision to feel them.

Henceforth, my intention in this work is purely practical. It is to allow an awareness of the Self to resolve my conflicts with family, food, sex and money; to just name these four. And if, on the way to being authentic in my relating (“the Word made flesh”), I was asked to become a philosopher and embrace the theoretical side of spirituality, then so be it! I might even realize that my intellectualism is only sterile in the measure where I am full of BS – of “Belief Systems.” :-)

The smokescreen of my lies is actually quite precious, since the places in the decoding where I go into limbo exactly reflect where my secrets are at work. As above, so below: when I don’t understand cosmic secrets, it may just be because I have too many personal secrets in the space. Exposing the latter reveals the former. This is how Jesus would say: “you have eyes but do not see, you have ears but do not hear.” Of course, I’ve turned off my senses along with my conscience, just so that I could break the law! Ignoring how my conscience is the actual source of my intelligence is what leads me to eventually ask: “how could I be that stupid?!”

4. WHEN THE HEART ENVISIONS TO REST WHILE WORKING, I AM CALLED to end my slave narrative: there is no forced labor; no one “making me!” Loving reality dissolves any sense of push/pull. It stops time, as there is no rush. It is only when I start fighting with “God” that I walk around feeling orphaned, forsaken and disconnected. The truth is that I turned away from Presence, and decided to go into the darkness alone. I forgot what I knew as a child: there is nothing and no one out there, which is how all of my efforts end up feeling like a failure.

My freedom is sourced in espousing choicelessness. This is the step beyond taking full responsibility for what I choose. Consider: when I am no longer interested in creating misery (that is, when I choose Health instead of having my attention on being poor and sick), I begin to sense that there is nothing personal. This understanding is at the foundation of choicelessness. Henceforth, after owning the truth that I am the observer of it all, I come to see that I don’t create what is: it just is! Whether it is youth or old age, success or failure, wealth or poverty, it just is; nothing personal! Everything can now be beautiful, because I am never separate from the whole. I am just a drop in the ocean; a wave that moves with the ocean. Wherever the flow takes me, I go!

I’m in trouble – in hell – when I start thinking of myself as a separate entity. This is when I make it about me, and attach to the illusion that I must make things happen (or that I am powerless to do so)! Adding “hell” to “illusion,” I’ve just written my own “HELLusion!”

I am yet to see that there's nothing I can do to manifest my heart's desire, but equally, that my heart's desire will never manifest unless I do everything for it! Meanwhile, I just need to trust that all is well. The philosopher will ask about prime cause and question the laws of motion to try to assess whether there is a "God" who created the universe. Was there a big bang, a gradual coming into being or was everything already here, created? The mystic has no need to theorize about the physical nature of the universe, or to believe in the concept of "God" and argue for his, her, its, their validity (or invalidity). It is sufficient to sense the harmony in existence. Rather than an intellectual concept, it is a felt sense that pervades everything.

Once I receive my Ph.D. in mysticism, I find the paradise I once lost, and rest while working. This quality of relaxation is a letting go. It is sudden, surprising, and ultimately peaceful. There is no stress as I no longer have any private goals to defend. I resist nothing. God's desire is my desire. God's will is my will. God's destiny is my destiny. From that standpoint, there is no more guilt for not having done what I "should" have done. The Law is my friend. Once the thought of unrequited love leaves me, there is no need for failure or humiliation. There's just me, and the Word that was "God" and with "God." This Word is the Tao and the Torah, as "the Law, the Way, the Teaching, the Song of Love" that permeates the whole of existence.

It's just that this existence now includes me. Yep, I had the courage to continue knocking on the door of "God's" house – the House of Belonging – until it opened.

Power Games

Why would I be angry at you and make you my enemy? Is it because I think you owe me, or worse, because I think I owe you? As a child, did I witness, time and again, my caretakers arguing, fighting for Power, wanting to be right? Might this "write" and wrong game be inscribed in my DNA as follows?

- When I perceive that my male side doesn't want me, my female side acts "hysterically," from Greek hysterikos "suffering of the womb." I now tend to overtly attack and overspeak – a clear misuse of Power.
- When I perceive that my female side is needy, my male side acts "penis-less," coined to describe the nervous disease peculiar to men caused by the curse of forced labor. I now tend to covertly defend and under-speak – a clear misuse of Power.

The Fall of Nun Final – the Sign of the End of Indebtedness

FIGHT or FLIGHT | CLING or AVOID | DESIRE or RESIST

“The search for truth is but the honest searching out of everything that interferes with truth. Truth is.” A Course in Miracles

Reality, my nemesis, surrounds me with people and events that contradict me, in order to compel me to embody wisdom and acquire wholesome Power. Will I ever realize that, in the space where I go into fight or flight, I don’t really know what’s good or bad? The thing is: I don’t want to be free; I just want to justify keeping my stuff.

One day, I will die. And on that day, I will let go of my illusions, and open to truth. Surely, where there is truth, there is death. Where there is death, there is truth.

I’ll sense how my constant fighting instead of surrendering magnetizes more nonsense, and become willing to take ownership of my creations. Having the courage (and the intelligence) to turn within, I’ll understand why I’m stuck in an ambivalence which has me hopelessly swing from aversion to greed, and back. Having come to THE END of desire, I’ll resist nothing, and, at last, know the sacredness of resting in peace.

The question remains: am I ready for how truth will change my life?

If yes, this booklet will complement my readiness by shedding light on how The Code of Opposites may lead me to increasingly know the sweetness of surrender.

Male & “Good”	Sexual Knowledge	Female & “Evil”
Resisting	PAIRfect	Desiring

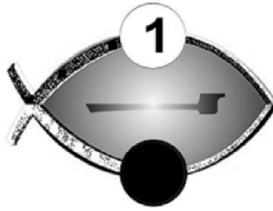

How sound are my judgment calls? Am I resisting what is “good” for me or what is “bad” for me? Similarly, am I desiring what is “good” for me or what is “bad” for me?

“EVERYTHING IN THE WORLD IS ABOUT SEX — EXCEPT SEX. SEX IS ABOUT POWER.” OSCAR WILDE

TO FEEL HOW DEEP THE POWER STRUGGLE GOES, I MUST FIRST UNDERSTAND THE NATURAL WAY OF COURTSHIP VERSUS THE CULTURAL WAY OF MARRIAGE. COURTSHIP IS WHEN THE MALE DESIRES THE FEMALE AND THE FEMALE RESISTS THE MALE’S ADVANCES. MARRIAGE IS THE OPPOSITE: THE FEMALE DESIRES THE MALE (THAT’S THE SECOND PART OF EVE’S CURSE – AS PER GENESIS 3:16), AND THE MALE RESISTS THE FEMALE’S ADVANCES (THAT’S THE SECOND PART OF ADAM’S CURSE – AS PER GENESIS 3:19). THESE INVERTED POLARITIES DO NOT MAKE FOR GOOD SEX. INSTEAD, THEY INDUCE SHAME SINCE I JUDGE MY OWN DESIRES TO BE UNACCEPTABLE, AND TRY TO FORBID ME FROM HAVING THEM.

IF I COULD ONLY UNDERSTAND THAT THERE’S ONLY ONE OF US!

“Hear, O you who IS-REAL, LOVE is our God. LOVE is One.” TCO’s
Transmission of Deuteronomy 6:4

I suffer from a very real hearing loss when the twins – the part of me that knows what to do to, and the part of me that doesn’t want to do it – fight in my psychic womb. I am so disconnected that I can’t relate to how the Shema, a word that means “hear” is the foundation of the three Abrahamic religions. Indeed, how would my life change if I could just obey the dictates of my heart? Yep, “obey” does come from Latin ob “toward” + audire “hearing.”

Here is the traditional translation of the verse above: “Hear, O Israel! the LORD is our God, the LORD is One.” Surely, if I could only understand oneness in my blood, I would know the Love that has no opposite, and wouldn’t feel that “God” has forsaken me!

While meditation, fasting, sex, yoga, psychedelics or making art give me a felt sense of what it means to be One, inquiry and surrender are the only two keys that were given toward sustaining enlightenment, when I rest while working. Either option, provided it is practiced in totality, opens me to peace immediately.

The Power to choose peace in any and all circumstances is surrendering the fight. It is no less than having my attention fully disciplined; under my control. Being successful in my creation is now matter-of-fact, as I do not let doubt enter my mind. This results from reconciling the two opposite parts of me, and thus allowing for my heart and my mind to be in alignment.

My work is to inquire until I come into complete understanding of why I can’t seem to stop fighting my own law – which is my own good. Understanding why I once chose to do harm is understanding everyone and everything. It is the oneness and the call to compassion of the Shema. Its decoding as perspective (of the seer) and interaction (between the seeing and the seen) traces a direct line to the observer effect of quantum physics (see Book 2). Cracking the Shema's code changes the way I look at things. It allows me to feel "the Law." Such sentience guides me in the ways of wholesome Power.

Indeed, when I make contact with truth, surrendering "my" free will is straightforward. Moreover, once I surrender it all, I have no more question and can finally live without a why. This natural motion unravels the symbolic significance of inquiry being announced as a first key by Buddha (~500 BCE), and surrender as a second key by Jesus (~33 CE).

Inquiry

UPON ENCOUNTERING ANY “PROBLEM,” I CAN ASK MYSELF WHY I JUDGE MY problem to be "bad" until I realize that only the ego is bound by judgments, and that the ego is non-existent. As long as I judge this or that to be “no good,” I will resist it and make it persist, which says that my understanding is not complete.

Surrender

I CAN ADMIT MY POWERLESSNESS AND SAY AT ALL TIMES; “NOT MY WILL, thy will be done,” giving up all thought of “I” and “mine” and leaving it to the Universe to do as it pleases with me. As long as I desire this or that, I am not surrendered. Surrender is loving LOVE for the sake of love and nothing else, not even for the sake of liberation.

Positive Flow	Biblical Knowledge	Negative Flow
Resisting the “bad”	Sweet Surrender	Desiring “the good”

My inquiry: why do I resist what is “good” for me and / or why do I desire what is “bad” for me?

AB | BA

THE XPR FORMULA:
UNDERSTAND → CHOOSE PEACE → EMPOWER THE NOW.

Understand

UNDERSTANDING IS TO FEEL THE ORDER INHERENT TO CHAOS.

This sense is helped by an inquiry that is sourced in sacred geometry. As such, it is universal (it relates to the whole and not just parts of me), credible (I can trust it), and radical (it takes me to the root).

Choose Peace

CHOOSING PEACE IS THE STEP BEYOND UNDERSTANDING.

It is the ability to foresee the consequences of my words and actions, and thus not create results I would rather not have to experience.

emPowering the NOW

EMPOWERING THE NOW IS AN ACTIVE LISTENING.

It hears the heart and answers “ROGER that”(Received Order Given), as the compassion that does what it takes to heal. Expecting different Results is no longer insanity. It is Wisdom.

AB | BA

WHAT IS THE STORY I TELL?

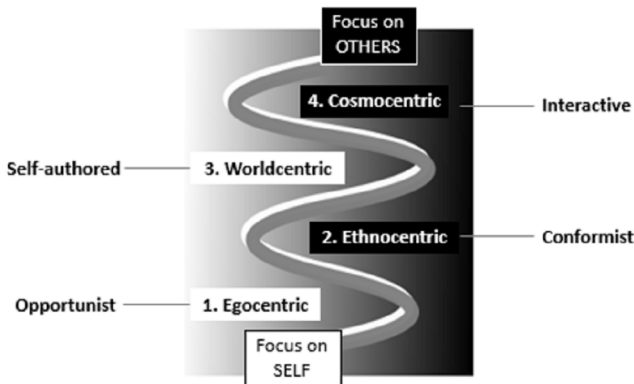

I DON'T LIKE SURPRISES! UPON MEETING THE UNEXPECTED, I NEED TO MAKE SENSE OF WHAT'S "OUT THERE." THE FEAR SOON LEADS ME TO FIGHT, FLIGHT, FREEZE, OR FREAK AS I MENTALLY TAKE A SURVEY OF THE LAND, WONDERING: WILL I GET THIS THING BEFORE IT GETS ME? CAN I MATE WITH IT? WILL THIS NEW THING EAT ME? CAN I EAT IT? TRUTH BE TOLD, I'M AN OPPORTUNIST. MY ATTENTION IS FIXED ON SURVIVAL, AND MY PERSPECTIVE, MOSTLY ABOUT "WHAT'S IN IT FOR ME?"

Power & Perspective

“The real voyage of discovery consists not in seeking new lands but in seeing with new eyes.” Marcel Proust

PERSPECTIVE IS THE WAY I CHOOSE, CONSCIOUSLY OR NOT, TO SEE something. The level of evolution of my “I” is the filter through which my eyes see and interpret reality. This is how I can reread the same book and see it the second time with entirely new eyes. Applying this principle to obstacles, I can change the reality I see by changing the way I look at reality. The more perspectives I can take, the more I evolve, and the more Power I have. Thus, mastering the art of changing viewpoint is the goal of spiritual practice, as it leads me to adopt perspectives so infinite that I can just be. In turn, the choice to be more inclusive, tolerant and compassionate unleashes my creativity.

From the bottom up...

1. Focus on SELF: the egocentric stage of being an opportunist.
2. Focus on OTHERS: the ethnocentric stage of being a conformist.
3. Focus on SELF: the worldcentric stage of being self-authored.

4. Focus on OTHERS: the cosmocentric stage of being interactive.

The illustration above shows a pattern of evolution that moves the focus from the SELF to OTHERS, in four distinct stages. While the opportunist and the self-authored parts of me are both focused on the SELF, there is a marked difference in their altitude and breadth of perspectives. The same difference in altitude and breadth exists between the conformist and the interactive parts of me, although they are both focused on OTHERS.

This is just one of the models of research in human development that shows several structures unfolding the ever-increasing ability to adopt multiple perspectives. And it makes me wonder... Can we continue to have science evolving, while religion stopped its development at the ethnocentric level? Religion has now become a force that contradicts itself, preaching love and justice while calling for holy war on all those who disagree with its beliefs on the divine. It is absurd! How could something that teaches love, wisdom and understanding continue to cause so much suffering, all in the name of "God?" Agree with me, and I'll love you. Argue, and I'll kill you!

When there is a very real urgency for both the individual and the collective to reach the cosmocentric stage, it may be wise not to throw out religion with the bath waters, since its mandate (however yet to be fulfilled) is to take us beyond judgments. On the note of fulfillment, most traditions divide their teachings into two forms – "exoteric" and "esoteric." Exoteric are the "outer teachings" meant for the masses as a series of parables and indoctrinated beliefs, such as "believe and you'll be saved!" This is the level where wars are waged. Esoteric are the "inner teachings," kept mostly secret and only shared with the pure of heart. This is the level that concerns TCO, the level where all mystics across traditions are in agreement. Consider: when of One heart, I have no need to push you or pull away from you. A dialog can now begin.

IT IS INDEED ABSURD! HOW COULD SOMETHING THAT IS SUPPOSED TO TEACH LOVE, WISDOM AND UNDERSTANDING CONTINUE TO CAUSE SO MUCH SUFFERING, ALL IN THE NAME OF “GOD?”

AGREE WITH ME, AND I’LL LOVE YOU.
ARGUE, AND I’LL KILL YOU!

I	IT/ITS	WE
Individual Power	Symbolic Power	Collective Power

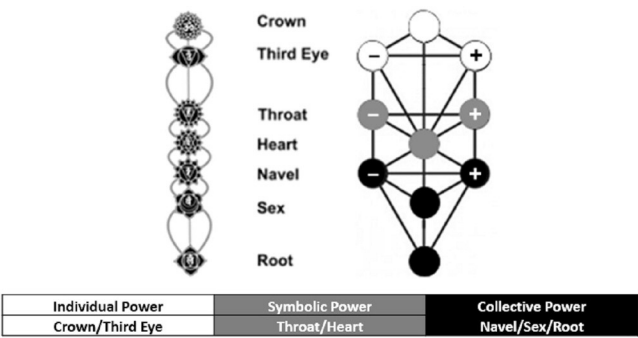

WHEN THE “WE” PERSPECTIVE OF COLLECTIVE POWER SEEMS INCONGRUOUS AND EVEN OPPRESSIVE, I AM MOTIVATED TO ADOPT THE “I” PERSPECTIVE OF INDIVIDUAL POWER. A RECONCILIATION OCCURS VIA A CODE OF OPPOSITES. THIS IS SYMBOLIC POWER AT ITS BEST! IT GIVES ME A LANGUAGE TO ADDRESS “IT” AND ITS MANY “ITS.”

SYMBOLIC POWER AND THE TREE OF LIFE

THE TREE OF LIFE IS THE CORE OF HINDU, CHINESE TAOIST, AND TIBETAN Buddhist scriptures. Their esoteric interpretations picture it across cultures as a number of spheres and/or wheels superimposed over the human body.

The life-force moves up the spinal cord (the trunk) in seven chakras or “wheels,” junction points between consciousness and physiology. These centers are whirlpools of light, storing, funneling and regulating the flow of electrical Fire-Power through the communication pathways of the cells. The tree is thus the “real” nervous system.

Each word or action influences the wheels’ performance: pure thoughts heal and clear, impure thoughts sicken and block.

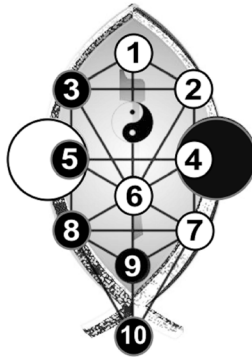

Hindu Tree of Life meets Hebrew Tree of Life

Jewish mysticism also has a tree of life at its core, which holds the entirety of the wisdom teachings: “she [the Torah] is a tree of life for those who have the strength to grok her, and those who draw near her are fortunate.” Proverbs 3:18. Just like the Hindu tree, the Hebrew tree’s life-force also moves up the spinal cord through seven plexuses. It is just that three of them (3rd eye, throat and navel) are split between a female flow and a male flow.

AB | BA

WHILE THE HINDU TREE MADE ME AWARE OF THE MOVEMENT OF SUBTLE ENERGY, THE HEBREW TREE GIVES ME THE INFORMATION I NEED TO UNDERSTAND THE WAR OF THE SEXES BY SPLITTING THE THROAT CENTER INTO A MALE PILLAR AND A FEMALE PILLAR. WHETHER EAST OR WEST, THE ETHICAL ISSUE OF JUSTICE VERSUS MERCY LIVES IN THE THROAT.

I GRAPPLE WITH IT AS MY MALE SIDE FAKES KINDNESS, AND MY FEMALE SIDE TURNS DISCIPLINARIAN. THIS ISSUE IS WHAT BLOCKS MY PASSAGE TO THE HIGHER SPHERES OF AWARENESS. THE HINDU TREE TELLS ME HOW TO RESOLVE IT BY NAMING THE THROAT Visuddha FOR “PURIFICATION.” THE HEBREW TREE CLARIFIES WHAT NEEDS TO BE PURIFIED BY NAMING THE THROAT’S MALE SIDE Chesed FOR “KINDNESS → MERCY” (SPHERE #4), AND ITS FEMALE SIDE, Geburah FOR “POWER → JUDGMENT” (SPHERE #5).

The Hebrew word for "chakra" is Sephirah. Sephirah also means "numbers," as the 10 spheres of the Hebrew tree of life. These 10 numbers are psychically linked to the 10 letters, a.k.a. the 10 Words (see next page). As for the Taijitu sphere, it is unnumbered, as it is the zero point of infinite nothingness.

“Moses was there with the LORD forty days and forty nights without eating bread or drinking water. And he wrote on the tablets the words of the covenant—the 10 Words.” Exodus 34:28.

On the note of teaching wisdom, how could we have missed that the Hebrew alphabet gave the code of enlightened action? It is surreal! And yet, Jesus didn't have an iPad. :-) We had to wait for the information age to perceive that Hebrew is a metalanguage. Similarly, to hear the dictates of my heart, would it help me to realize that the Torah does not speak of “Ten Commandments,” but of “10 Words?”

Since each Hebrew letter is also a word and a number, the “10 Words” refer to the first 10 letters of the alphabet. These 10 words undergird the structure of the whole alphabet. The sense of their symbols go a long way to shed light on the supposed "Commandments." They are so real that they will eventually inspire me to surrender, and join my hands in service to Love. Yep, the word digit does come from Latin digitus, to help me be true to my word – accountable.

Looking at the image below, I see my palms engraved with the tablets of the law. Each tablet has 5 letters: 5 for my yin side and 5 for my yang side. When I no longer split the letter of the law from the spirit of the law, I no longer observe that the law is coercive. Instead of wanting to run, I stand in awe, touched beyond belief!

ON THE PREVIOUS PAGE, THE CHART DESCRIBES HOW EVOLUTION COMPELS ME TO MOVE HORIZONTALLY, FROM THE PAST OF I-OPENING TO THE FUTURE OF 9-COMPLETING, AND BACK FROM THE FUTURE. THE DIAGRAM ON THE NEXT PAGE JOINS THE TREE OF THE KNOWLEDGE OF OPPOSITES TO THE TREE OF LIFE. IT SHOWS HOW EVOLUTION COMPELS ME TO MOVE VERTICALLY, FROM 7 "INFERNAL" SPHERES TO 3 "SUPERNAL" SPHERES, AND BACK. THESE TWO WAYS TO "DO" TIME (HORIZONTAL & VERTICAL) COMPLEMENT EACH OTHER, WHEN I OPEN TO ENLIGHTENED ACTION. I AM NOW BEYOND TIME, SO ABSORBED BY THE ACTION THAT I AM FREE OF THE ACTION.

3-Changing	5-PAIRfect	7-Engaging
Male Freedom	Enlightenment	Female Fulfillment

The fulfillment of engaging is found in the freedom to change, and vice-versa, the freedom to change is found in the fulfillment of engaging.

The Depth of Vertical Time

“Time is the horizontal dimension of life, the surface layer of reality. Then there is the vertical dimension of depth, accessible only through the portal of the present moment.”Eckhart Tolle

Do I know what motivates my action? For my "write" hand to no longer know what my left hand is doing, I must have turned off my conscience. Henceforth, I'm all lonely, abiding in "Scare City," and believing in lack.

The tree of life offers me a way out when viewed as a code of opposites: above vs. below. On the top is the light of 3 supernal spheres (rungs of the crown and 3rd eye chakras). When I hear my conscience, I am in "the Promised Land." In turn, resonating with the 3 supernals allows me to inhabit the whole tree, from crown to root; in the "QKingdom." But when I turn off my guidance, I'm stuck in the darkness of 7 infernal spheres (rungs of the throat, heart, navel, sex and root chakras). I am now in bondage to my own misery – in "the Land of Egypt."

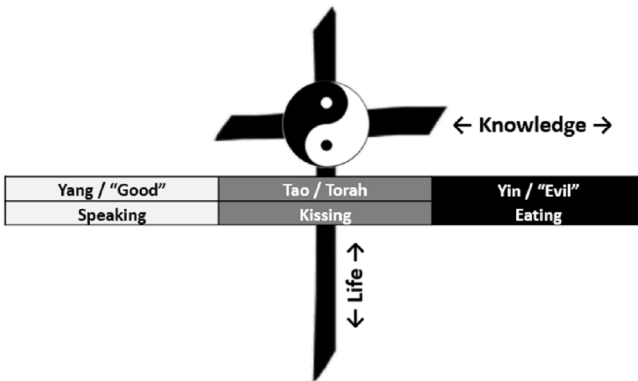

To make my exodus, I must enter the sphere where the taijitu is. This sphere is traditionally named Daath for a "knowledge" that is sexual as it calls me to drop my judgments of what I think is "good" and/or "evil." It is the mouth chakra, thus far ignored. When I have sufficiently "eaten" my desires and resistances, I receive the key to the QKingdom.

The Key to the QKingdom
3 Supernal Spheres	Sphere of Knowledge	7 Infernal Spheres
"The Promised Land"	The Exodus	"Ego-Egypt"
Freedom	Shadow Work	Bondage

AB | BA

THE TREE OF THE KNOWLEDGE OF OPPOSITES IS REVEALED BY TCO AS THE CRUX OF THE MATTER, AS IT IS THE LINK BETWEEN ABOVE AND BELOW, WITHIN AND WITHOUT. ENERGETICALLY, IT IS THE MOUTH CHAKRA. THE SPHERE IS NAMED DAATH FOR A "KNOWLEDGE" THAT, ONCE EATEN, LEADS ME TO DIE TO WHO I THINK I AM. WHEN MY JUDGMENTS ARE METABOLIZED, I SEE THAT THE MOUTH IS A TRANSCENDENTAL CHAKRA. ITS ACTIVATION IS COMPLETE WHEN I NO LONGER MISUSE THE THREE PRIMAL ACTS OF POWER – EATING, SPEAKING, AND KNOWING (SEXUALLY). I CAN NOW TAKE FULL RESPONSIBILITY FOR MY HEALTH, WEALTH AND RELATIONSHIPS.

Daath is "crucial" as it marks the intersection of two trees – life and knowledge.

WHEN YANG OR OUTWARDLY DIRECTED, I USE MY MOUTH TO SPEAK.

WHEN YIN OR INWARDLY DIRECTED, I USE MY MOUTH TO EAT.

WHEN CENTERED IN BIBLICAL KNOWLEDGE, I USE MY MOUTH TO KISS.

Imagine a language so pure and so sacred that it can reconcile opposites in just three letters...

Behind any great woman, there is a great man – and vice-versa!

I go by Maha. As the author (and a poet), my job is to make the conversation real. To this end, I will speak as an “I” and dare to be honest. As long as I remember, I have longed for my gifts to be recognized. The hunger for love eventually became so painful that I knelt in prayer. This is the counsel I received: “reveal that S/Hebrew is the tongue of Nature, and you’ll heal your mind. The sacred frequencies open lines of communication to the heart, granting the coherence to turn within so as to find the recognition you sought without.” What the heck?!

Although riddled with doubt, I couldn’t help painting the Hebrew letters or writing on their wisdom. As I came to a place where the work showed some promise, I prayed (yep) for a partner who could help me bring this monumental project to the world. A week later, I met Michael, a curious mix of technical guru, energy healer, system analyst and community leader. I had no clue he was about to become my editor, not only in pointing out typos, but also and foremost in mirroring the errors of my way – altogether a very surreal partnership. While we are polar opposites in numerous ways, Michael, just like me, prayed for a path of full awakening. Also just like me, he yearns for recognition. Our egos have clashed so often that the day came when I realized that the book that begged to be written was The Code of Opposites!

In our desperate attempts to dominate the other, we were oftentimes conscious of being trained on how to embody wisdom and acquire wholesome Power. Would we ever reconcile the conflicting parts of us: the part that wants to offer its gifts freely, and the part that obsesses on “what in it for me?” Trust was a big issue. We were two beings who cycled through loving each other as true friends, and hating each other as sworn enemies.

Eventually the blame against the “YOUiverse” vanished, opening a WE place where to see ourself in the other, and, by extension, in life. Michael is, at times, the yin wisdom in support of Maha’s yang Power. Maha is, at times, the yin wisdom in support of Michael’s yang Power. To wind down the right and wrong game, we had to transmute the shame-based gender identities. To let the other win, we had to learn that forces oppose each other in order to give rise to each other. This compassionate listening of the other is how we succeeded in fulfilling our deepest desire: to have a voice that can make a difference in freeing what may be a universal desire – to let our light shine in service to the good of all.

AB | BA

THIS IS THE QUESTION THAT EACH OF US PLAYS WITH IN OUR PARTNERING:

WHY CAN’T I REMEMBER THAT, WHEN WE ACT AS OPPOSITE FORCES, IT IS TO GIVE RISE TO EACH OTHER?

AM I SO AFRAID OF BEING IN MY OWN POWER THAT I WOULD TRY TO TAKE YOU DOWN?

The TWIN Mission

“Feeling the rage and staying in the fire with M to fulfill this mission impossible was THE most surreal and sacred adventure imaginable. Surprisingly, ending the war of sexes marked the beginning of integrity.” M&M

THE MISSION OF GOLDEN XPR™ IS TO REVEAL THE ORDER INHERENT IN the chaos of knowledge. When I perceive that there is a universal code to hearing and seeing the soul of perennial truths, the visible and the invisible merge (I stop doubting), the hunger for LOVE is satiated (I have nothing left to lose), integrity is naturally embodied (I do no harm), and an enlightened civilization emerges (I love IT all).

The Mission of emPowering NOW LLC™ is to test, experience, and bring forth Golden XPR as a path to transition from a world of GReed that splits Giving and Receiving by communicating fear, confusion and domination, to a world of GRace that unites Giving and Receiving by communicating wisdom, understanding and kindness.

I CAME INTO THIS WORLD EMPTY-HANDED, AND I WILL LEAVE IT IN THE SAME WAY. FOR ME TO TRANSCEND THE MIND AND ITS MANY DESIRES, MY WILL MUST REMAIN UNCORRUPTED IN THE FACE OF MAMMON, S/HEBREW FOR “MONEY,” BUT ALSO AND FOREMOST FOR THE FORMIDABLE “YEARNING” – THE DESIRE FOR LOVE, APPROVAL AND RECOGNITION.

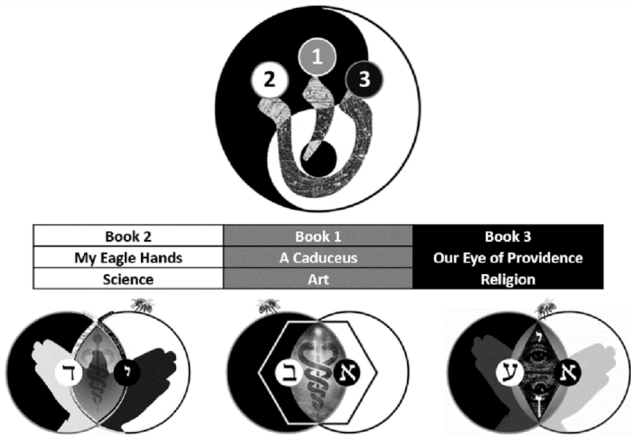

HEALING POWER REQUIRES THAT I’D TRANSITION FROM GREED INTO GRACE. GREED, SHALL I WONDER, IS MORE THAN A RAPACIOUS DESIRE FOR WEALTH. IT IS A WILL DIRECTED TO POWER; TO CONTROLLING ME, US, IT – THE WORLD!

The Land of Milk and “Money”

TCO—The Series

Book 1—no push/pull invokes a caduceus: in the beginning was the end, when I deliberately choose peace and rest while working. This book lays the foundation for me to recognize the existence of a metalanguage as a sacred guide to using Power. Power is a big deal. It is wholesome when I am unbridled in my expression, and yet, do not need to accuse myself of either speaking too much or not enough. Therein is the healing I seek.

Book 2—no self-doubt now superimposes “my eagle hands” over the caduceus. Eagle teaches me to return to childlike innocence. The same eagle who inspires me to reach for the sky grounds my action by suggesting a master code. Its head and wings are the digits of my two hands united in giving/receiving. When I feel the freedom of reciprocity, I know the kind of faith that makes everything well. Henceforth, this book invites me to inquire on why I do not trust myself.

Book 3—no yearning positions “my eagle hands” under “our eye of providence.” This book marks my return to the WE perspective of collective Power. For me to have the certainty that you and I can work together, I must first satiate the hunger for "your" love, approval and recognition. Such longing is at the foundation of desire itself. Consider: when I accept that I can only control my inner responses to "you," and not "you" out there, I yearn for nothing. Such acceptance communicates the felt sense that I do contribute to the whole. Indeed, there is a tiny crack in existence that cannot be filled by anyone but me.

The First Q&A

‘Reading again Genesis 1, Elohim says to "subjugate" every living being that moves on the earth, while Genesis 2 only says that YEWE Elohim brings the animals to Adam so that "he gives them a name." As we know, language introduces a separation from what is felt. Is it this bias that prevents being in full and complete communication, even non-verbal with the animals, and made it that force was necessary to dominate them?’ CH, Orlando FL.

What a rich question: thank you, CH! Yes, Elohim's ("God's") declaration is all about Power. When bestowed on the Adam, it is the blessing of a Power that is wholesome, as it touches both of "them" (male and female sides): 'And God blessed them by saying to them, "Be fruitful and multiply, and fill the earth and subdue it, and rule over the fish of the sea and over the birds of the heavens and over every living thing moving on the earth"' Genesis 1:28. The Adam of Genesis 2 serves a different "God" Name, and, as a result, has a different way to look at life. This is potentially because there is no more "they," but a "he" who is disconnected from his female side and from his Power. Henceforth, he can't give the woman a name, i.e.; he can't call her!

Reestablishing authentic lines of communication (as an animal whisperer?) is no easy task, as it involves repairing the compass of my instinct that was broken by the many excesses and deficiencies of my ways. Starting with the body (my animal), do I listen to it telling me what to feed it, when and how much, or do I follow my mind's cravings?

The act of eating may just be the most primal act of Power. The connection between Power and eating is shown in the succession of two verses: Genesis 1:28 as the blessing of wholesome Power over the animals, and Genesis 1:29 as the gift of the seeds, the trees and the fruit for food, a verse thus far used as a plug for vegetarianism. Truth be told, whether I am a carnivore or a vegan, my teeth are gonna cut, mix, grind, chew, crush, and kill the food that offers itself to me. Moreover, the act of eating involves two complementary motions: the loss of a food that is destroyed, and the gain of a body that assimilates the food. These two motions are out of balance when I am powerless over Power. My perceived inadequacy soon leads me into emotional eating or drinking or inhaling, despaired for being at once the abuser and the abused.

So please, don't "eat" from the tree of the knowledge of good and evil, for if you do, you'll consummate (or lose) the poverty-stricken personality and acquire (or gain) wisdom-Power, as you'll find yourself being whole, complete, and connected again – "PAIRfect!" :-)

AB | BA

THE ACT OF EATING MAY JUST BE THE MOST BASIC ACT OF POWER.
 SO PLEASE, DON'T "EAT" FROM TCO – OR FROM THE TREE OF THE KNOWLEDGE OF OPPOSITES, FOR IF YOU DO, YOU'LL CONSUMMATE THE POVERTY-STRICKEN PERSONALITY AND ACQUIRE WISDOM-POWER.
 INSTEAD, YOU'LL FIND YOURSELF BEING WHOLE, COMPLETE, AND

The SIX Consummations of TCO—The Series

TCO—THE SERIES OFFERS THE FOLLOWING CONTEMPLATION: MIGHT these SIX consummations and/or goals be what sustains absolute being?

1. REST—In the beginning was the end, when I can choose peace and rest while working. Meanwhile, I'm so busy trying to make things happen that I can't hear the soul saying: "in all things, seek rest."
2. SIMPLICITY—If I did, there would be no push/pull, and I would succeed in my intended creation. This is how The Code of Opposites is written as a series. It endeavors to live up to Einstein's knowing, "everything should be made as simple as possible, but not simpler."
3. COHERENCE—Book 1 lays the foundation for me to recognize that a metalanguage could exist. If this dream were true, I would have a way to hear myself. I'd soon become coherent, starting with fulfilling my desire to hear you! This language would function as a sacred guide to using Power while doing the beauty I love to do.
4. WHOLESOMENESS—Power is wholesome when I am unbridled in my expression and yet, do not need to accuse myself of either speaking too much or not enough. Book 2 – no self-doubt – invites me to deepen my sense of such wisdom by inquiring on my folly as the reason why I do not trust myself and/or don't buy me. The question leads me to Book 3, when I embrace the yearning by allowing myself to feel the fear.
5. RECEPTIVITY—Consider: when I accept that I can only control my inner responses to the world, and not the world as I perceive it out there, I yearn for nothing. Such acceptance is another way to understand the S/Hebrew word QKabbalah for "receptivity." What I came to accept and receive is me, myself and I, and, by extension, my unique “superpower.” Surely, I will eventually find myself knocking on the door to “God’s House – the House of Belonging, realizing that, without me, something would be missing in this big universe. Indeed, I am not accidental. There is a tiny crack in existence that cannot be filled by anyone but me.

6. ENOUGH—However, to discover my higher purpose – and even to trust myself with it, I must know that I am enough. This sense is precious as it opens me to rest, when I hear “enough” as “in off.” It is restored at the end of dissatisfaction, when I see that I can’t spoil it, for “it” is perfect. There is no wrong that I can do, when I accept “necessary evils.” Indeed, if I really knew evil, I would change for good, and just be... enough! Enough is the deliverable that grants the Power to choose Peace – a supreme Power as it is the prerequisite to making sound decisions. Henceforth, it directs the way TCO’s three books interact.

“God is a geometer.” Plato

“God is an arithmetician.” Jacobi

“CREATED-SIX, God created the Heaven and the Earth” is an alternate translation of Genesis 1:1 – a translation that is entirely kosher.

To sense its depth, I first had to hear and SEE that “God” is a geometer, an arithmetician, and a snowflake. :-) A snowflake is like “God.” It has no fear of falling in Love, or of failing irremediably, angelically, beautifully, and uniquely. Yep, I first had to think as a philosopher, a mathematician, and a child.

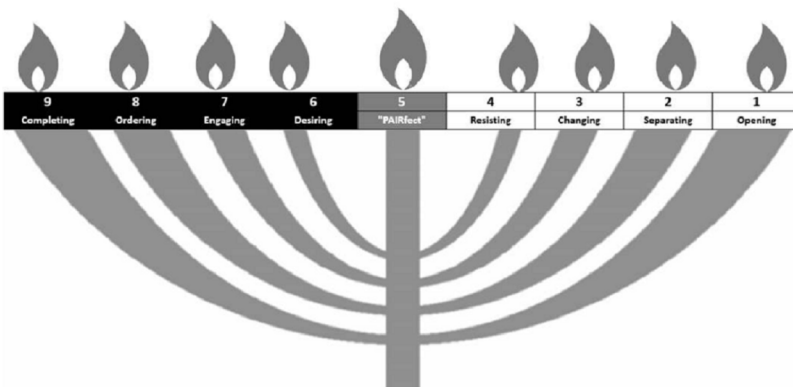

For more understanding of how this novel interpretation traces a path to the end of confusion, visit www.empoweringnow.com, and click on the seed pattern (below).

In conclusion: what is EAT? What is IT?

“Come, all you who are thirsty, come to the [Torah’s] waters. And if you have no money, come, buy and eat. Come, buy without money for this wine and milk are unsalable!” Isaiah 55:1

Satiety is a mystery. It seems to be physical, and yet it is not. So, what is EAT? Saying it is an initiation into a realm where matter is not solid, and earthly foods are like the manna – imbued with a heavenly quality – just deflects the question: what is the manna? The word first appears in Exodus 16:15, not as a noun, but as the question Man Hu “what is IT?” I answer “IT” when I see the letters of Man Hu reordering as Emunah for “faith.” Faith is what satiates me, as it is when I am 100% certain that my prayer is received. Thus, faith is how I move out of Scare City – a “land” where I’m a slave to the number of bills I have in my wallet and/or the calories I ingest. Surely, the trick to having faith is to be 100% and have 0 doubts.

Aleph transmits the 1st of the 10 Words to impart the spirit of unity to each letter of my communication. In turn, the five pairs of animals (1+9, 2+8, 3+7, 4+6, 5+5) add up to a 10 – for my heart to understand the one (1) of us, my mind to have zero (0) doubt and/or one hundred (100) percent certainty, and my hands to serve an enlightened justice.
